CLASS HISTORY

FRESHMEN! AT last! we had reached the goal, for which we had been striving for the past seven years, completing the elementary school and now entering a field which is entirely new to us. We had as our teachers, Miss Mattingly and Mrs. Kilby. They often entered the room to be met with a volley of chalk and erasers from grinning students. But we were merely freshmen—what did we care, we had three years to go. One of the big events of this year was the coronation of the May Queen on Field Day which turned out to be a great success with Catherine Jones as the queen.

SOPHOMORES—We were now Sophomores, not Freshmen any more. Even tho' sophomore means wise fool, we felt that we were a step nearer to our goal. Our teachers this year were Miss Winn and Mrs. Hudson. Continuing the custom begun in our Freshmen year on field day, we had this year as our second May Queen, Mary Inskeep, who helped a great deal in making the May Day a success. A new extra curricular activity was added to our list when the boys organized a Hi-Y club. Carlos Williams, as president, did much to maintain and extend the influence which it will ever hold in our school.

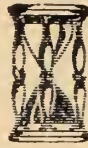

JUNIORS—OUR third year in high school! Although we had only one teacher, Miss Winn, she was very capable of taking care of us. She taught some of us in the Sophomore room, so we felt that we knew her very well. Athletics came into the spotlight once again when the girls won the basketball championship of this district. Even though we thought we were dignified, there was always a time when we lost our dignity, such as the banquet and theatre party we gave the Seniors. A new teacher was admitted to the faculty this year,

Mr. B. B. Shotwell, who took the place of Mr. Holladay. This was the third consecutive year for the May Queen, Ruth Earle Weaver presided. Our class officers were, Marjorie Inskeep, President, Steele Ritter, Vice-President, Annie O'Bannon, Secretary, Chancellor Kibler, Treasurer. The boys took another step in furthering their Hi-Y purpose by helping to organize a Girls' Hi-Y Club. Their president was Zillah Rhoades, Vice-President, Marjorie Inskeep, Secretary, Betty von Gemmingen and Treasurer, Ann Watkins.

SENIORS—And now our last year had arrived in which we took on that mantle of dignity and look of responsibility which comes with the knowledge of the example which we are setting for the new freshmen, who gaze at us with wondering eyes. Our class officers were Betty von Gemmingen, President, Elizabeth Blankenbaker, Vice-President, and Lucy Harris, Secretary and Treasurer. Our teacher was Miss Miller, whose untiring efforts in guiding us through our last year of high school were greatly appreciated. The Glee Club took on a new responsibility in presenting an operetta, "In Ole Virginia," which proved to be very successful. The boys created a small sensation in organizing a Monogram Club. For the first time in the history of the school, the Seniors entertained the Freshmen. (We hope that it will be a yearly occurrence.) The Juniors bade us farewell with a fancy dress and theatre party. Our Senior play "Here Comes Patricia" came up to the expectations of all. And now, the sheepskin, symbol of scholastic attainment, has passed to the hands of the class and a new page has turned for those who in 1931 were timid and not overly intelligent freshmen.

VIRGINIA KITE

CLASS PROPHECY

"Station F-U-T-U-R-E broadcasting on a nationwide hook-up from the Ann Wingfield Memorial Stadium. Your announcer is "Bunks" Major and he will bring you the latest news of this great game between Culpeper and California Universities. I shall now turn the mike over to Jim Coleman, star reporter of the "Pepergram," who will introduce some of the outstanding players."

"Good afternoon folks, Jim Coleman speaking and presenting the star players, the greatest of whom is that well known personality Harry Townsley, who has made many sensational plays in this game. Next to Townsley we note O. Bushong as the outstanding guard. Culpeper's famous tackler, "Dolsky" Yowell, has lost his voice—believe it or not—and is now doing well in a hardware store in the town of Tootlesville, Virginia. Another great player who is missed greatly is Morton Miller who has tackled the profession of law on a big scale and has just won his fourth big case in which that well known movie queen, Nancy Bell Green, was involved. And, folks, you should have seen her turning down those contracts on the courthouse steps. But right here I surrender the mike to your announcer, "Bunks" who will review the celebrities. Let's hear it, "Bunks"!

"Well folks, there is quite a great crowd here today. Even the president, Mr. (X) is present with his Secretary of Agriculture, Edward Duncan, accompanying him. At the president's right is sitting the family's private Latin tutor, Ann Watkins, who is known throughout the nation. Near this party we see that great professor, William Burwell, who has just received the honorary position as Dean of Harvard University. And who is that lady, why, it is none other than Mrs. Tweedledum, wearing a huge corsage of orchids. Before her marriage to the multi-millionaire she was the well known follies girl, Betty von Gee. (It has been rumored that this was a fictitious name!) And while we are on the subject of flowers for all occasions, go to L. Pierce's exclusive florist shop, located on East Street in this town. Now Coleman is conversing with someone in dark glasses. Can it be? Yes! It is that modest Johnny Martin, better known to the public as the "missing link" in the great chain of theaters in this country. Near Mr. Martin is sitting that little dark-haired lass named "the dairy maid" by her public, Virginia Kite is the original name, and even though she is alone today, we think all is peaceful at home. Following down the line we see our great commentator, Joyce Guinn, who has just returned from a position in Europe. Accompanying her is Marjorie Inskeep whose hatcheries are known throughout the world by all chicken lovers. Right now there is quite a disturbance in the lower end of the stadium. Now I can clearly see that the Woman's Civic Cat Club has arrived. It has as its president Elizabeth Wiseman, who has also been a great help in promoting the 4-H club, which has gained nation-wide recognition. Some of the outstanding members are Edna Good, Elsie Dempsey, and Mabel Curtis. And behold! There is that great night club hostess and proprietor, Ellen Smoot, who is better known to all night club goers as "Barfly." Her newest club "The Soup Spoon," has just been opened to the public on Harlem avenue. It is rumored that Orville Smith, the world's most original actress, has accepted the position of hostess in this club. Over to our left, we see Madge Gaines and Mary Booth who have both won scholastic honors for debating and essay writing, respectively. Accompanying Miss Gaines is her petite secretary, Lucy Harris, who has gained a name for herself in the business field. The field of teaching and farming is represented by Elizabeth Blankenbaker, Virginia Yancey, Frankie Smith, and Tandy Guinn. Both Elizabeth and Virginia are known for their ability to teach and Frankie has just won the prize for having the most perfect and natural farm grounds. Mr. Guinn has won fame in farming by crossing a potato and a carrot. He hasn't, up until now, named this new vegetable.

"Now folks back to the game. But it looks if there isn't going to be a game. It seems that the boys forgot their umbrellas and rubber shoes and are calling it off because of the rain. So station "blub" F-U "glup" T-U-R-E and R-A-I-N are signing off until tomorrow morning at 7:00 o'clock. Be up and listening in, children!"

EDITH LEGG.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

CLASS OF 1935

WE, THE Class of 1935, having completed our four years school course after many trials and tribulations have at last reached the final stage of school salvation—Graduation, do make this our last will and testament, and we do hereby make the following bequests:

ARTICLE I

TO THE faculty we tender our heart felt thanks and appreciation for their kind, patient guidance and undue worry they have endured because of us; also all of the detention hall slips that they have so bountifully bestowed upon us from time to time, although we feel certain they will not need them next year.

To the Junior Class our Senior dignity. May they always strive for the highest and best, and continue to uphold the standards of the past examples. Virginia Kite does not leave a private "war" to the Junior class since this war is spelled W-A-U-G-H but she bequeaths her attractive smile and pleasing personality.

To the Sophisticated Sophomores, the great "honor" of entertaining the Seniors next year and do not frown for your time will come next.

To the Freshman Class, our old note books, which we have saved from year to year, filled to overflowing with valuable information on all subjects. You might be so lucky as to find an old test paper, graded 95 or a discarded copy of a book report. Are we generous?

ARTICLE II

TO L. A. RHOADES, "Bunks" Major bequeaths a complete set of parliamentary rules to aid in carrying on the leadership of the Hi-Y Club.

To Virginia Lewis, Lucy Allport's Brandy method of throwing "come-up-and-see-me sometime" glances, which she hardly needs.

To Wade Hitt, William Burwell's dignity. William also bequeaths Jack Davies his joviality and singing ability.

To Helen Jeffries, Inez Corbin bequeaths her permanent wave.

To all admirers of good sportsmanship, Edith Legg leaves a good example of a good-all-around Senior, from the both students' and the teachers' point of view. To anyone who wishes a stage career she bequeaths her ability to impersonate Zazu Pitts.

To "Runt" Tanner, Edward Duncan's frankness and manly courtesy. There are also others that might profit by this gift.

To the Junior girls, Lillian Brown's passes to the Fairfax and her share of Leslie Taylor's regard during school hours.

To Hollis Colvin, who seems to have some trouble keeping that well groomed appearance, Jack Yowell bequeaths his supply of hair "slickum."

To Martha Johnson, the new Hi-Y president, Betty von Gemmingen's wonderful leadership, her love for, and devotion to the club. This splendid gift is a necessary asset to any good club.

To Francis Harris, his Senior admirers leave a safety razor guaranteed not to tunnel through his chin or a light weight baseball mask to protect him on his frequent trips to the drug store. We are not sure which is the more appropriate gift.

To the Junior girls, Johnny Martin's car full of gasoline, from one of our reliable service stations, and the trunk full of sweaters, letters, belts, and possibly an organization pin stuck around in the seat cushion somewhere. Now's your chance girls! Step right up!

To Jack Davies, Ann Watkins' extra quality credits.

To Charlotte Bishop, Ellen Smoot leaves her record of perfect attendance to Detention Hall.

To Kitty Lee Williams, Nancy Green's ability to recite and make orations and her "Garbo" qualities.

To Anna Marie Rue, Madge Gaines' ability to wield her left hand which has written many interesting articles for her classes and the school paper.

To Myra Smith, her sister's ability to tap dance and to kick a stick with her feet crossed.

ODE TO C. H. S.

Well, dear comrades, long we've traveled,
To attain at last our goal—
Graduation! Is it joy or sorrow
Which predominates each soul?

A glint of tear, a ghost of a smile,
Betray what is uppermost in the mind
Of every member of the Senior class
Who leaves school and youth behind.

Oh, memories, ever will you haunt us!
Your bright threads mingled with the gray
Of the uncertain pattern Fate is weaving,
Will change darkness into day.

Many times will we remember
Teachers, helpful in the past,
We must go forth and do them justice
In the race of Life we won't be last!

C. H. S., we ask your blessing,
As we begin to build the hive
Of our life's work all about us, say
"Godspeed" to the class of thirty-five!

Nancy Ball Green

CLASS SONG

(Tune, "When I Grow Too Old to Dream")

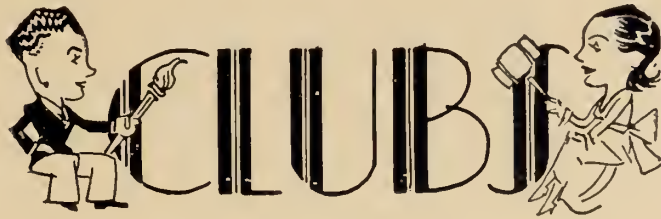

When we grow to old to dream,
We'll have you to remember,
When we drift down Life's swift stream,
Your love will live in our hearts.

So, goodbye, our friends,
From you we're loathe to part,
Put each kind word and helping hand
Will linger in every heart.

In every hour of toil and play
Our teachers have been near,
But though we'll miss them every day,
Their work is carved on our hearts.

So, leave you we must,
For a goal we have to strive;
But may your hearts dwell kindly on
The class of thirty-five.

Nancy Ball Green.
